Community Supported Agriculture

(CSA) is an option for those who do not have a garden of their own.

Members of a CSA purchase a “share” in the season’s crops. This share consists of a weekly box of products that may be picked up at the farm or delivered to a convenient drop site. Members share the risks of farming along with the rewards of having fresh seasonal produce throughout the growing season. It is also a great way to support local agriculture and small family farms.

Treasured Haven Farm Rush City 320-358-3581	Offers a variety of CSA options from their environmentally conscious family farm.
Women Environmental Institute Almelund 651-583-0705	Organically certified CSA program, featuring veggies and apples, and a variety of farming classes.
